Beyoncé's Formation World Tour is a weekend away from commencing. Meanwhile, 'Drive Slow' is dominating the radio! Beyoncé returns to her hometown of Houston for the opening day of her Formation World Tour. The concert will take place at NRG Stadium, the same venue where her mother, Tina, watched her first concert in 1985. The superstar singer has spent the last 12 years away from Houston as she has juggled family and her career. Her last concert was at the Astrodome in 1999.

Yesterday, it was reported that Bey will bring her Formation World Tour to the Toyota Center in San Antonio, TX on October 28th and 29th. The tour kick-off also took place at the same venue as her celebrated 2016 Formation World Tour was last held there. It will be the first time Bey is performing in San Antonio, TX since that tour. On the other side of the globe, 'Drive Slow' is dominating the radio. The song made its way into the top 10 of every chart yesterday, and kept its placings in the US charts for the whole of today. The track is up from #6 to #2 on the Rock Digital Song Sales chart, up from #8 to #3 on the Hot Rock Songs chart, #8 to #4 on the Alternative Songs chart, and down from #12 to #11 on the Hot R&B/Hip-Hop Songs chart. 'Drive Slow' is also still on pace to top the chart next week in its fourth week in the top 10 and the tenth week on the airwaves. There were no new entries in the Billboard Streaming Songs chart this week. However, BTS
