Lysosomal enzymes induce irreversible changes in erythrocyte plasma membrane proteins (measureable as the pH-dependent change in the values of free charges) under the action of microenvironmental acidosis or alkalization and lead to stability/degradation changes, which are also expressed as a pH-dependent change in the values of protein free charges. Q: How can i check what the machine name is from powershell console window In the running PowerShell script I need to check the machine name to confirm whether the server has been already installed or not. But I can't find a way to check what the machine name is. Basically it should look something like this: PS> Get-Machine 'SERVER-DC' PS> Get-Machine -Name Server2 'SERVER-DC' PS> I tried this but it doesn't work: PS> Get-Machine -Name 'Server2' Get-AdlsMachine : Cannot find drive.
