2010 Upgrade: perform a cloud service fabrication only the first time? I'm attempting to upgrade a Sharepoint 2010 farm to Sharepoint 2013, and am experiencing issues around how the service fabric configuration is getting migrated to the new Farm. While it seems fairly simple to provision the config changes to Sharepoint via ADLS, it seems that the config changes must first be re-fabricated in the new farm before existing changes reflect the new configuration. Is there a way to ensure only the first time that we provision the service fabric configuration that I can safely migrate
