eventually.... [FULL] vanessa mc madnessgolkes DON'T STEAL MY FREEDOM KALL, KALL, KALLLLLLLLLLLLLLLLLLLLLLLLLLLLL..... Q: Compilation error while trying to set a priority in the code generated by t4 templates When I try to override the method OnInitPermissionRequest(ref bool isGranted) I get the following compilation error: Error CS1005 'MyModel.OnInitPermissionRequest(ref bool)' has the wrong return type What I am trying to do is set the default value of isGranted to false for some models and true for other, without the need for an if statement. The generated code is: protected override void OnInitPermissionRequest(ref bool isGranted) { isGranted = base.OnInitPermissionRequest(ref isGranted); // Is anyone using the domain? if (!this.EnableRoles) { isGranted = false; } } The question is, am I doing something wrong or is there any problem in overriding the method. UPDATE: To me, it seems like the OnInitPermissionRequest(ref bool) method does not actually return anything, even if I try to return false and true, respectively. UPDATE: I'm using.NET 4.0 UPDATE: I am using.NET 4.0 and Visual Studio 2010. UPDATE: The problem is that the method in the base class does not return anything. Is it the right way to set the default value of the method? Is this the right approach to the problem? A: You are using a ref keyword, you do not need a ref 595f342e71
