U.S. officials said Friday the unidentified man was from Belarus and was hit in the chest, but it was not clear when that happened. The man was shot multiple times in the driveway of a house where the police had responded to a call, Metro Police Chief Cathy Lanier said. There were no other people in the house, she said. The suspect was taken to a hospital and died of his injuries early Friday. Authorities from Belarus, whose capital is about five hours by car away from the U.S. city, arrived in the U.S. on Thursday night and are investigating the case. The office of Belarusian Ambassador to the United States Alexander Dregov said in a statement that it has been appointed to carry out the investigation in cooperation with local officials. The office said that the embassy in Washington will cooperate with local and international law enforcement agencies. The Belarusian Embassy in Washington did not immediately respond to a request for more information. The Washington area is home to a large number of people from Belarus, mainly Washingtonians who speak the language. Dregov said Belarusian Embassy in Washington is in contact with Washington authorities. "The Belarusian Embassy in Washington has received information about the attack in Washington. The Embassy is also in contact with the U.S. Department of Homeland 6d1f23a050
