The meteor crater of Cocos Island, off the coast of Costa Rica, has received considerable attention since it was discovered in February 1992. Observations of the island conducted prior to the meteor impact make several features that are not easily explained, and there is a mystery object, apparently metal, in the crater. "Stefano has done an incredible job, I'm really happy with how he's managed it, he's done a great job. I will be back at the same place next year, which is good for me." Domenicali's position has come under further scrutiny this season, with his fellow Ferrari driver Kimi Raikkonen appearing to outshine the Italian, and others suggesting the current Ferrari project would struggle without him. His predecessor, Adrian Newey, argued Domenicali has been the only member of the technical department to make Ferrari "stronger". "Stefano was brought in when the team wasn't competitive
