- The Global Stem Cell
Market to grow at 5.8%
CAGR over the Forecast Period to 2022 Stem cell therapy is gaining in importance and is anticipated to witness a 5.8% CAGR during the forecast period, owing to the increase in instances of transplantation of stem cells to improve growth and functioning of a patient's stem cells, as well as to treat diseases. The use of stem cells for regeneration of neurons and various tissues such as bone, muscle, nerves and tendons is increasing, due to the development of advanced stem cell applications in the pharmaceutical industry. Stem cell-based therapies have been found to be effective in treating heart disease, since it is proved that stimulation of mesenchymal stem cells or pluripotent stem cells could be used for cardiac regeneration. Of late, the use of stem cells has been expanding significantly as a result of the increasing number of dental and medical clinics, that have started offering stem cell therapy.

Also, the introduction of stem cell-based dental technology has resulted in increased employment and savings in stem cell therapy. Such issues as, no side effects, the ease of use, non-invasive nature and low cost are making people use stem cell therapy very effectively. In the pharmaceutical sector, stem cells are utilized to manufacture, regenerate, develop or to understand a specific cell function. They are obtained from several sources such as, the embryonic stem cells, embryonic germ cells, adult stem cells, induced stem cells, embryonic stem cells, and adult stem cells. The pharmaceutical industry has been making use of stem cells to produce biosimilars for commercial purposes. The cost-effective production of 6d1f23a050
